The 2016 bleaching event was most intense in the middle section of the Great Barrier Reef. In 2017 mass bleaching is occurring again, second in severity only to 2016, and has occurred even in the absence of an El Niño event.